“For our nation to remain a leader in scientific advancement and technological innovation, we must equip and train the scientists and engineers of tomorrow. This bill provides the education and skills necessary for students to compete in today’s global economy and to understand increasingly complex issues. We must provide students with the resources and curriculum they need to succeed.”