

“I am deeply saddened by the passing of Jay Chen, publisher of Asian Fortune, and send my condolences to his family, friends, and colleagues. Since being founded by Jay nearly two decades ago, Asian Fortune has been the only English language newspaper serving the Asian American and Pacific Islander community in the greater metropolitan Washington area. Jay will be forever remembered as a pioneer in ensuring that cultural and linguistic barriers do not prevent AAPIs from being continually engaged with the news. Jay will be greatly missed, but I know that his legacy within and beyond the AAPI community will continue to live on.”
