

“Rogelio Lona’s career as a farm worker, activist and organizer embodies the legacy of civil rights icon Cesar Chavez. For over forty years, Rogelio has been dedicated to greatly improving the lives of his fellow farm workers. I congratulate Rogelio on being named a Champion of Change. Rogelio’s leadership is a lodestar for every American – instructing us, inspiring us to work tirelessly to forge a more perfect union.”

On Thursday, March 29th, the White House honored ten leaders as “Champions of Change” who, like Cesar Chavez, have dedicated themselves to improving the lives of others throughout their community and across the Nation
